All Glories to Sri Guru and Sri Gauranga

My dear Srila Gurudev,

Please accept my most humble dandavat pranams. All glories to you on your divine appearance day. I wish with all my heart that I could be with you today.

I offer you this compilation of offerings for your birthday. It was made with affection and dedication by devotees from all over the world. Hundreds of your disciples from many different countries sent their offerings by email.

In India, Mahananda Prabhu gave his expert guidance, Madhavananda Prabhu spent many hours editing, and Krishna Bhakta Prabhu created elegant artwork for your pleasure.

In England, Damayanti didi, with the help of her family, assisted in editing the offerings. She worked with dependable dedication, sometimes giving up sleep to finish the job.

In Mexico, Jai Balai Prabhu translated all the Spanish offerings into English.

In the California, Sarvabhavana Prabhu lovingly designed the cover and arranged the pages, like he does so expertly in publishing devotional books. My sister, Vaidehi didi, also helped on the computer, making the photographs of the devotees look very nice.

Only by the blessings, assistance and instructions of the devotees am I able to do this service. When I read their offerings, full of sweet words and sincere affection, I am overwhelmed. Your infinite grace and mercy are evident in these pages. I feel your sweet association through your disciples, and I am able to meditate upon your transcendental character by creating this book for you.

My only hope is that I can satisfy you by satisfying your devotees. As unworthy and unqualified as I am, I pray that you continue to bestow your blessings on me forever.

Your little daughter in California,

Vrndavanesvari dasi
